

How can you work with, not against, these Regulation D limitations?

- Use your All In Credit Union Line of Credit as the primary source of your overdraft protection. Otherwise, if you use your Savings or Money Market Account and you have already made too many “limited” transfers or withdrawals from that account during the month, the overdraft protection transfer will not take place from Savings. This can result in fees being imposed and the check being returned to the merchant.

- If you use Phone or Online Banking to transfer from one of the regulated accounts to your Checking Account to cover checks or to make payments set up through Bill Payment, plan ahead and make one large transfer instead of several smaller ones. If that isn't convenient, transfer the funds through the ATM or in person at one of our branches.

- Pre-authorized electronic funds through ACH and electronic withdrawals from your Savings or Money Market Account are considered Regulation D transactions. For example, if you have an insurance premium or safe deposit box fee automatically withdrawn from your account or if you have requested that funds be sent electronically ACH from that account to another financial institution, you are subject to Regulation D limitations. Therefore, it's better to have these types of transactions set up from your Checking Account, if possible.

An important
reminder:

REGULATION
D

Transactions from Savings are Limited

The Federal Reserve Board's Regulation D limits the number of certain withdrawals and transfers from Savings Accounts. At All In Credit Union, Savings Accounts affected by this regulation are Regular Share (Savings) Accounts, Christmas Club Accounts and Money Market Accounts. Transactions from All In Credit Union Checking Accounts are NOT limited by this regulation. The limitation does not apply to cash withdrawals, in-person transfers, ATM transfers or pre-authorized payments to a loan at the same credit union.

Pursuant to Regulation D, certain electronic transfers from Savings Accounts are limited to no more than six (6) per calendar month in any combination. This includes transfers caused by overdrafts on your account and payments to third parties. If you exceed these limitations, even though there is money in your Savings Account, the transfer will not take place. This can result in fees being imposed and exceeding these Regulation D limitations may cause your account to be closed.

Electronic transfers included:

- ACH (Automated Clearing House) Transfers
- Overdraft transfers
- Pre-authorized Transfers
- Mobile and Online Banking Transfers
- Phone Banking Transfers
- Point of Sale (POS) transfers
